Share what you Can Food Drive

Imagine if you ate one meal a day for days or even weeks. Now imagine you are a family of four, or just a child hungry for food yet there is nothing in your fridge or cupboard. Most of us are fortunate enough to never have had experiences like these, but nearly 6.2 million households in the U.S. accessed food pantries and kitchens in order to survive, and not only once.

That's why Alto is proud to partner with the Foodbank of Dayton, hosting our "Share what you CAN" food drive. We are making a commitment to our community in whichever we can, and invite all our clients and candidates to join us in making Ohio hunger-free!

Our Dayton office will be collecting donations until November 30th. For a complete list of accepted non-perishable food items, please see our community board in the lobby. Drop-offs are also within our Dayton office lobby.

The Foodbank serves 107 programs annually, distributing over 7 million pounds of food.

It's a Small Business Thing

Small businesses are the backbone of our American dream, helping to build our economy and strengthen our communities. Alto Health Care Staffing is a small women-owned business that calls the Dayton community home. Founder Leslie Kahn started the company out of her house, while still working as a Registered Nurse, providing hands-on care for patients and exciting opportunities for her fellow industry peers. Juggling family and work while being an entrepreneur, Ms. Kahn built the foundation of this company on the same morals that drives a nurse to be the best they can: compassion, commitment and consistency.

For over a decade, our business has made thousands of placements, because compassionate and driven healthcare professionals like you, decided our company was the partner they needed. We want to thank each and every one our clients and candidates for choosing our small business; for seeing our vision and goals aligned with their own and for joining our Alto family!

Thank you for choosing us!
