EMPLOYMENT PRINCIPLES

Performance Guidelines

It takes a special type of professional to work for an agency. You must be independent, flexible, a team player, and be a self-starter. Alto Health Care Staffing only wants to partner with quality and the best and brightest in the field. Just as there are laws that govern our conduct as citizens in the community, in the health care provider community there are certain general performance guidelines which govern our conduct as employees.

Please keep in mind that we have worked very hard to start our company and the continued success of Alto Health Care Staffing is a direct result of our commitment to quality. You represent us as the face of our agency.

The following general performance guidelines are broadly stated, and all employees are expected to use good judgment and take responsibility for their conduct. As an agency, you are expected to deliver quality service to the utmost of your ability above and beyond the Staff employee of our respective clients. We expect our employees to:

Refrain from any actions that have a disruptive or negative effect on other employees or on the efficient operation of our business.

Maintain a good attendance and punctuality record.

Follow all safety rules and always work in a safe manner.

Perform at the “excellent” level and maintain acceptable standards of quality and production.

Conduct all matters with professionalism and good judgment. Be cooperative and strive to meet the needs of our clients.

Deliver the best Service and Quality care to our clients and patients as a representative of our company.

Support and abide by company policies and/or procedures.

Each employee’s performance is their own responsibility. Each health care employee will be evaluated based on his/her job responsibilities and duties as outlined in their job description which has been provided. Employees may also undergo evaluations from time to time by our client facilities as deemed necessary.

Employees who smoke must follow policies and/or procedures of each client facility.

CONFLICT OF INTEREST

A “conflict of interest” exists when a person’s private interest interferes in any way - or even appears to interfere - with the interests of the Company. A conflict situation can arise when an employee or officer takes actions or has interests that may make it difficult to perform his or her Company work objectively and effectively. Conflicts of interest may also arise when an employee or officer, or a member of his or her family, receives improper personal benefits as a result of his or her position in the Company. Loans to, or guarantees of obligations of, employees and officers and their family members by the Company may create conflicts of interest and in certain instances are prohibited by law.

It is a conflict of interest for a Company employee or officer to work for a competitor, customer or supplier. You should avoid any direct or indirect business connection with our customers, suppliers or competitors, except as required on our behalf.

Conflicts of interest are prohibited as a matter of Company policy, except as approved by the Board of Directors. Conflicts of interest may not always be clear-cut, so if you have a question, you should consult with your supervisor. Any employee or officer who becomes aware of a conflict or potential conflict should bring it to the attention of a supervisor, manager or other appropriate personnel.

The following items may be viewed as a conflict of interest:

An employee that has worked for a client facility or client corporation directly may not be presented as a contract worker for re-hire until a period of six months of complete separation.

An employee may not work for a client company and Alto Health Care Staffing simultaneously.

An employee may not work for Alto Health Care Staffing and another agency simultaneously for the same client company. Some client companies forbid this practice and social security and profile checks are done at time of submission.

An internal Alto Health Care Staffing employee may not have an inappropriate relationship for any other purposes than conducting business with any external field employees or employees of client companies.

Alternate Dispute Resolution and Mutual Agreement to Arbitrate

Alto Health Care Staffing strives to treat every employee, regardless of position, in a fair and just manner at all times. This is consistent with our philosophy that the employment relationship should continue for as long a period as is mutually satisfactory and desirable. You have the right to end the employment relationship at any time, for any reason and Alto Health Care Staffing has the same right. Unfortunately, in the day-to-day operations of our business, mistakes are made and feelings may sometimes be hurt or offended. In order for Alto Health Care Staffing to promptly correct and remedy these situations, we believe it is important that employees have access to a fair, impartial, and speedy procedure that will resolve internally all employment disputes, without time consuming and expensive legal proceedings.

ADRP Process

Step A - Open Door Policy

Employees who believe that they have been treated unfairly or inappropriately in the workplace are encouraged to take advantage of our open door policy. Tell your manager your problem. During this discussion, feel free to speak openly. Your managers' desire is to understand and aid in solving problems that arise at work. Generally, you and your manager will be able to resolve the problem. If you believe sexual harassment has occurred by those you would like to talk to, proceed at once to the next step of proper consideration. If you do not believe your problems have been straightened out with your manager, see the department head (if applicable). If the problem still has not been straightened out, contact the President. The President will confer with you, and all others involved, to carefully review the facts and circumstances. If, after a thorough discussion of the matter, you still believe the problem has not been resolved to your satisfaction, you need to proceed to Step B.

Step B - Mediation

If the dispute is not resolved to your satisfaction after exhaustion of the open door policy, you may request mediation. To start the mediation process, you must submit a written request to mediate to the Human Resources Department. The request should be made as soon as possible after the dispute arose and should identify and describe the nature of the claim(s) and the facts upon which such claims are based. Upon receipt of a request to mediate, a representative of the Human Resources Department will investigate the claim(s). After the investigation is complete, the Human Resources Department representative will meet with the parties and attempt to mediate a satisfactory solution to the problem. Once a mutually acceptable agreement has been reached, this agreement will be put in writing and signed by all parties involved. Enforcement of this agreement becomes the responsibility of the Human Resources Department. The Human Resources Department will try to resolve all matters in an efficient and timely manner. Human Resources will notify you, in writing, once the mediation step is completed.

Step C - Final and Binding Arbitration

If the dispute is still unresolved after mediation, the employee may request that it be submitted to arbitration. The dispute will be heard by an independent arbitrator, which has been selected by both parties. The arbitrator normally charges an hourly fee for their services that will be split between the employee and the Company.

The arbitrator listens to the presentations by both sides and then renders a decision based on the facts. A more complete description of the arbitration procedure is presented immediately below.

Agreement to Arbitrate and Arbitration Procedure

Alto Health Care Staffing recognizes that differences may arise between the Company and an employee. Arising out of, or relating to, employment, or termination of employment, that cannot be resolved by the open door policy, or by mediation. Alto Health Care Staffing also recognizes that resolution of these differences in court is rarely timely or cost effective for anyone. Therefore, Alto Health Care Staffing and you, the Employee, enter into this Mutual Agreement to arbitrate (“the Agreement”), to establish and gain the benefits of speedy, impartial, and cost-effective final and binding arbitration.

It is to be understood that any reference in this Agreement to Alto Health Care Staffing also refers to all subsidiary and affiliated entities, all benefit plans, the benefit plans’ sponsors, fiduciaries, and administrators, all successors and assigns of any of them, and to all company officers, directors, employees or agents.

Agreement to Arbitrate Any and All Disputes

Except as otherwise provided in this Agreement, Alto Health Care Staffing and you, the Employee, agree to arbitrate all claims and controversies for which a court would otherwise be authorized to grant relief to the employee, in any way arising out of, relating to, or associated with the employment or termination of employment with Alto Health Care Staffing. This also includes all claims that Alto Health Care Staffing may have against the Employee or that the Employee may have against Alto Health Care Staffing. This means that both parties agree to arbitrate all disputes for claims of wages or other compensation due; claims for breach of any contract or promise; expressed or implied; tort claims, sexual harassment claims; claims of discrimination, including, but not limited to, claims based on race, sex, religion, national origin, age, marital status, handicap, disability or medical condition; claims for benefits, except as excluded in the following paragraph, and claims for violation of any Federal, State or other Governmental constitution, statute, ordinance, regulation, or the common law.

Exceptions to the Agreement to Arbitrate

This Agreement does not apply to, or cover, any claims the Employee may have for benefits under applicable worker’s compensation statutes; claims for unemployment compensation benefits; claims by Alto Health Care Staffing for injunctive and/or other equitable relief; claims based upon an employee pension or welfare benefit plan, the terms of which contain an arbitration or other non-judicial dispute resolution procedure, in which such case the provisions of such plan shall apply, and any other claim or dispute that may not legally be the subject to this Agreement to Arbitrate.

Procedures Used in Arbitration

To commence arbitration, a written request must be made to the Human Resources Department. The request should be made promptly after mediation is completed, generally within ninety (90) days. If such a request is not made in writing within the applicable statute of limitations that would apply to such claim(s), then the arbitration right is considered to have been waived.

A list of arbitrators will be provided to Alto Health Care Staffing and the Employee. The Company and the Employee will alternate, strike names from the list until one name remains. This person will be the arbitrator. A flip of a coin will determine who strikes the first name. Any arbitration under this Agreement shall be conducted in accordance with the then existing applicable arbitration procedure.

Either party, at its own expense, may arrange for, and pay for, the cost of a court reporter to provide a stenographic record of the arbitration. The other party may obtain a copy of the record by paying, to the reporter, the reporter's fee.

The employee may hire, at his/her own expense, a lawyer to assist and present the Employee's case. In this case, the Company may also hire a lawyer. If the employee chooses not to hire a lawyer to present his/her case, the Company agrees not to hire a lawyer to present their case.

To assist the Employee in presenting his/her case, copies of relevant documents may be made from the personnel file. The arbitrator, for good cause shown, may also require either party to produce copies of any documentation, records, or other materials, subject to any terms and conditions that the arbitrator may impose.

The arbitrator, after submission of post-hearing briefs, will render a written decision to both parties.

The arbitrator will charge an hourly fee, which the Employee and Alto Health Care Staffing will split.

The Law the Arbitrator will follow and the Arbitrator's Authority

The arbitrator will decide whether the dispute presented violates the law of the United States or the law of the State in which employment occurred. In other words, if employment occurred in Ohio, the arbitrator will decide whether the action violates Federal or Ohio law.

The Arbitrator's decision will be consistent with the fact that employment is at-will and that either the Employee or Company may terminate the employment relationship at any time, for any reason not contrary to law, and that this employment at-will relationship can only be changed if Alto Health Care Staffing and the employee agree, in writing to do so, and that agreement is signed by the President of Alto Health Care Staffing. The arbitrator may award such relief as equity requires, including back pay, reinstatement or front pay, and other forms of traditionally equitable relief. The arbitrator has no other authority other than that granted to the arbitrator by this Agreement. This Agreement does not grant the arbitrator the authority to determine or review a decision or action of the Company concerning matters over which the Company has retained management discretion.

Term, Modification, and Revocation

This ADRP Agreement shall survive the employer-employee relationship between the Company and the Employee and shall apply to any claim, whether it arises during or after termination, of the Employee's employment with the Company. This ADRP agreement can be modified or revoked only by a written request, signed by both parties, that specifically states intent to modify or revoke the Agreement.

Jury Duty

- Full-time employees who are summoned for jury duty are granted a paid leave in order to serve, provided that the employee would be off during their normally scheduled working hours and the employee signs over their jury duty check to Alto Health Care Staffing.
- Exempt employees may be provided time off with pay when necessary to comply with state and federal wage and hour laws.
- Employees must make arrangements with their supervisor as soon as they receive a summons.
- Employees are expected to return to their job if they are excused from jury duty during regular working hours.
